REALTY BOARD
BACKS DAIRYMEN

Efforts of dairymen of the Salt River valley to get what they deem fair prices for milk received the support of the Maricopa county real estate board last evening when, at its regular monthly meeting, the organization adopted a resolution endorsing the movement and promising support.

Adoption of the resolution followed a talk on dairy conditions by Frank Stewart, at the smoker which followed the regular meeting. After this was general discussion of the cotton situation. The meeting was well attended and much enjoyed by members of the association.

According to an announcement by President F. W. Griffen last evening, it is the intention of the association to hold regular monthly meetings henceforth at which timely topics will be discussed.

Time and place of such meetings will be announced at a later date, says Mr. Griffen.

CLUBMAN DENIES HE EVADES JURY DUTY

Sydney J. Ross, well known clubman, is not trying to evade jury duty, according to his own statement, when cited to appear before Judge Lyman for failure to answer when his name was called in court.

Mr. Ross was subpoenaed by telephone and was told to appear before Judge Stanford the latter explained that he was probably intended for a special jury in division two, and Mr. Ross understood that any further notification on his part was unnecessary.

Believing into the matter it was found that the return from the sheriff's office indicated that Mr. Ross had not been served while the record of the clerk of the court gave his name.

The court admonished the deputies to exert more care in the records and ordered Ross to appear for jury duty Tuesday morning.

BOWLING RECORD
MADE IN TOURNEY

[Republican A. P. Leased Wire]
CINCINNATI, Feb. 26.—One American Bowling Congress record was smashed, while new leaders in the two men and all-events appeared at the American Bowling congress here today.

Harry Steers and Fred Thoma, of the Rubini team of Chicago, assumed first place in the doubles with a score of 1236, just 10 pins behind the American Bowling Congress record, held by Satorius and Holzschuh, of Peoria, while Steers went into the lead in the all-events with 1959, 14 pins ahead of the record made by H. Miller of Detroit, at Grand Rapids last year.

Numerous other changes among leaders took place, however. Steers bowled his way into second place in the individual with 675 and was closely pursued on the following shift by B. Steinmiller of Syracuse, who went into fourth place with 655.

Good bowling marked the later shift in the doubles as W. Carey and C. O. Collier, also of the Rubini of Chicago, huddled into fifth place with 1224.

only mere adjustment or compromise of claims among rival states, is only the application of the foregoing in a definite direction or a deduction from it, and is, therefore, included in the present given to that cause.

Agrees on Clause Four
"Now, in the fourth clause, he demands that all well defined national aspirations shall be accorded the utmost satisfaction that can be accorded them without introducing new or perpetuating old elements of discord and antagonism that would be likely in time to break the peace of Europe and, consequently, of the world. Here, so I can give assent in principle and I declare therefore, with President Wilson that a general peace on such a basis is discussable.

"Only one reservation is made. These principles must not be proposed by the president of the United States alone but they must also be recognized definitely by all states and nations. President Wilson, who reproaches the German chancellor with a certain amount of backwardness, seems to me in his flight of ideas to have hurried far in advance of existing realities.

"Certainly, a league of nations erected upon justice and mutual unselfish appreciation, a condition of humanity in which war together with all that remains of the earliest barbarism should have completely disappeared and in which there should be no bloody sacrifices, no self-mutilation of peoples, no destruction of laboriously acquired cultural values—that would be an aim devoutly to be desired.

No Court of Arbitration
"But that aim has not yet been reached. There does not yet exist a court of arbitration set up by all nations for the safeguarding of peace in the name of justice. When President Wilson incidentally says that the German chancellor is speaking to the court of the entire world, I must, as things stand today, in the name of the German empire and her allies, decline this court as prejudiced, joyfully as I would greet it, if an impartial court of arbitration existed, and gladly as I would co-operate to realize such ideals.

"Unfortunately, however, there is no trace of a similar state of mind on the part of leading powers in the entente. England's war aims, as recently expressed in Lloyd George's speeches, are still thoroughly imperialistic and want to impose on the world a peace according to England's good pleasure. When England talks about people's right of self-determination she does not think of applying the principle to Ireland, Egypt or India."

Declaring that the new German operations against Russia were taken at the request of those populations to restore order and that they did not aim at conquest, the chancellor continued:

Defense Is His Excuse
"Our war aims from the beginning were the defense of the fatherland, the maintenance of our territorial integrity and the freedom of our economic development. Our warfare, even when it must be aggressive in action, is defense in aim. I lay especial stress upon that just now in order that no misunderstandings shall arise about our operation in the east."

"After the breaking off of peace negotiations by the Russian delegation on February 19, we had a free hand as against Russia. The sole aim of the advance of our troops, which was begun seven days after the rupture, was to safeguard the fruits of our peace with Ukraine. Aims of conquest were in no way a determining factor. We were strengthened in this by the Ukrainians' appeal for support in bringing about order in their young state against the disturbances carried out by the Bolsheviks."

"If further military operations in other regions have taken place, the same applies to them. They in no way aim at conquest. They are solely taking place at the urgent appeals and representations of the populations for protection against atrocities and devastation by Red-Guards and other bands. They have, therefore, been undertaken in the name of humanity. They are measures of assistance and have no other character. It is a question of creating peace and order in the interest of peaceable populations.

"We do not intend to establish ourselves, for example, in Estonia or Livonia. In Courland and Lithuania our chief object is to create organs of self-determination and self-administration. Our military action, however, has produced a success far exceeding the original aim."

Main Thing Is Achieved
"News was received yesterday that Petrograd had accepted our conditions and sent its representatives to Brest-Litovsk for further negotiations. Accordingly, our delegates traveled thither last evening. It is possible that there will still be dispute about the details but the main thing has been achieved. The will to peace has been expressly announced from the Russian side while the conditions have been accepted and the conclusion of peace must ensue within a very short time."

"To safeguard the fruits of our peace with Ukraine, our army commands drew the sword. Peace with Russia will be the happy result."

"Peace negotiations with Rumania began at Bucharest yesterday. It appeared necessary that Secretary von Kuehlmann should be present there during the first days when the foundations were laid. Now, however, he will presumably soon go to Brest-Litovsk."

"It is to be remembered regarding negotiations with Russia that we are not taking part in them alone, and are under obligation to champion the interest of our allies, Austria-Hungary, Bulgaria and Turkey, and to see to it that a compromise is arranged there regarding any divergent desires that will possibly give rise to difficulties, but these difficulties will be overcome. With regard to Rumania, too, the guiding principle will be that we must and desire to convert into friends the states with which on the basis of the success of our army we now conclude peace."

"I will say a word regarding Poland, in behalf of whom the entente and President Wilson have recently appeared especially to interest themselves, as a well known country liberated from oppressive dependence on 'Czarist Russia by the united forces of Germany and Austria-Hungary for the purpose of establishing an independent state, which, in unrestricted development of its national culture, shall at the same time become a pillar of peace in Europe."

Constitutional Problem
"The constitutional problem—in the narrower sense the question what constitution the new state shall receive—could not, as is easily understood, be immediately decided, and is still in the stage of exhaustive discussions between the three countries concerned. A fresh difficulty has been added to the many difficulties which have in this connection to be overcome, difficulties especially in the economic in consequence of the collapse of Russia. For this reason the news of peace with the Ukraine at first evoked great uneasiness in Poland. I hope, however, that the good will and proper regard to the ethnographical conditions a compromise on the claims will be reached. The announced intention to make a serious attempt in this direction has greatly calmed Polish circles."

In the regulation of the frontier question only what is indispensable on military grounds will be demanded on Germany's part.

The entente are fighting for the acquisition of portions of Austro-Hungarian territory by Italy and for the severance of Palestine, Syria and Arabia from the Turkish empire. England has particularly cast an eye on portions of Turkey territory. She has suddenly discovered an affection for Arabians and she hopes by utilizing the Arabians to annex fresh territories to the British empire, perhaps by the creation of a protectorate dependent upon British domination.

are directed at increasing and rounding out the enormous British possessions, particularly in Africa, has been repeatedly stated by British statesmen.

"In face of this policy, entente statesmen dare to present Germany as the disturber of peace who in the interest of world peace must be confined within the narrowest bounds. By a system of lies and calumny the endeavor to instigate their own people and neutral countries against the central powers and to distrust neutral countries with the spectre of the violation of neutrality by Germany."

"Regarding the intrigues recently carried on in Switzerland we never thought, nor will we think, of assailing Swiss neutrality. We are much indebted to Switzerland. We express gratitude to her. Holland, the Scandinavian countries and Spain, who by her geographical position is exposed to special difficulties, and no less to the extra-European countries which have not entered the war, for their mainly attitude in that despite all temptations and oppressions, they preserve their neutrality."

World Yearns for Peace
"The world yearns for peace and desires nothing more than that the sufferings of war under which it groans should come to an end. But the governments of the enemy states contrive ever anew to stir the war fury among their peoples. A continuation of the war to the utmost, so far as has transpired, the most recent waichword issued by the conference of Versailles, and in the English premier's speech it again finds loud echo. There are, however, other voices to be heard in England; it is to be hoped that these voices will multiply.

"The world now stands before the final decision. Either our enemies will decide to conclude peace—they know on what conditions we are ready to begin a discussion—or they will continue the insanity by their criminal war of conquest.

"Our people will hold out further, but the blood of the fallen, the agonies of the multitude and the distress and sufferings of the people will fall on the heads of those who insistently refuse to listen to the voice of reason and humanity."
